

MORNING HERALD.

THE FIRST DAILY PAPER IN THE OIL REGIONS.

VOL. IV. NO. 30.

TITUSVILLE, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1867.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

The Titusville Morning Herald.

By E. BLOOM & CO.

W. W. BLOOM, J. H. COOPER,

Dealers to Mail Subscribers, or by Carrier, per year, $1.

The Best Advertising Medium in the Oil Regions.

The Titusville Weekly Herald,

Published every Thursday,

$2.00 Per Year in Advance.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CASTLE BROTHERS,

PETROLEUM BANK BLOCK,

Corner of Spring and Franklin streets,

TITUSVILLE, PA.

Have constantly on hand large and well selected stock of gentlemen's

COLD AND SILVER

American Watches,

Ladies' Gold Watches,

GOLD AND SILVER

CHAINS, RINGS, LOCKETS,

KEYS, JEWELRY, &c.

SILVER PLATEDWARE,

TEA CADDIES, CUPS, SAUCERS,

CUPBOARD DISHES, SPOONS, &c.

MONTGOMERY GOLD FENS, the best in use.

SPECTACLES, all styles and for all ages.

HOTEL AND OFFICE CLOCKS, with calendar

HOUSE CLOCKS, all styles.

PISTOLS and PINK LOCKET CUTLERY FANCY

GOODES, &c.

All goods we furnish as we present.

It is our Repairs made in the best part of the city.

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

ESTY & CO'S COTTAGE ORGAN.

TAYLOR & FARLEY'S HARMONIC MELODE-

ONE AND PARLOR AND CHURCH ORGANS,

MASON & HAMLINS CABINET ORGAN

He is also agent for the

DE KUHN PATENT FOX BOUNDING BOAR

PIANOS, STEINWAY & SONS, BRAEBU

HAZELTON BROTHERS,

and others

N. H. LAM BELLING CHEAT—ALMOST AT

OLD PHONES

Phantom Polished, TUNED and Repaired, and a

work WARRANTED

C. A. BROWN,

Petroleum Bank Block, Franklin Street, Titusville, Pa.

BRIGGS & SEVERANCE,

General Agents for the

WOOD & MANN PORTABLE ENGINES

Offices over the First National Bank, Titusville, Pa.

J. T. BRIGGS

L. H. SEVERANCE

The Allen Valve Co.

Are now prepared to furnish the

CELEBRATED ALLEN VALVE

and have appointed the following agents, where they may be obtained:

SMITH & HINKLEY, Titusville.

NEVANIA & NEWTON, Pomer City.

WINDSOR BROS. & CO., Titusville City.

J. H. JENNINGS, Titusville.

WATSON & NEVANIA, Bell Run.

BRIGGS & SEVERANCE,

General Agents Titusville

W. B. TAGGART Traveling Agent

CASH GROCERY HOUSE.

The attention of the public is invited to the

CHOICE ASSORTMENT OF

GROCERIES

now being received at

P. A. PALMER'S,

Corner Pine and Franklin Streets, consisting of the best

GUNPOWDER, HYDRO, OOJONG AND

JAPAN TEAS,

SUGARS AND SPICES,

In great varieties. All kinds

DRIED AND CANNED FRUITS, PICKLES

PRESERVES, SELECT SPICES,

JELLIES, BURNETT'S EXTRACTS, CALIFORNIA,

NAJA WINES,

BABBITS SOAP IN BOXES FOR FAMILY

USE, SWEET POTATOES,

CRANBERRIES AND APPLES

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

WOODEN WARE, BASKETS, BEST GRADES

FAIRY FLOUR,

Powder, Shot, Caps, Tobacco, Cigars and everything else usually kept in a first class house.

All goods sold at the lowest market rates and prompt delivery. We pay part of the city's free charge. Call and buy.

LOSEE'S

Is not the only Hot and Cold House in the city, but you want to select from the

LATEST STYLES AND BUY AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

GO TO LOSEE'S, No. 1 Pine Spring street.

SMITH & HINKLEY.

Titusville, September 20, 1866.

At strict attention to business and the wants of our customers, we expect liberal share of patronage.

H. H. EDY & CO.

TITUSVILLE, PA.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic

HARDWARE.

F. H. EDY & CO.,

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic

HARDWARE,

IRON STEEL NAILS ROPE BELTING TUBING

and all other goods pertaining to the oil business.

COATS AND PANTS

STOVES,

and AGENTS for the sale of the celebrated

"ORIENTAL,"

AND

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

beautiful

PIANOS, MELODEONS,

ORGANS, STREET MUSIC,

STRINGS, &c., &c.

C. A. BROWN,

Is receiving every few days new supplies of those

CROSERIES & LIQUORS.
HAIGHT, ARCHER & CO.

THE MOST EXTENSIVE
WHOLESALE GROCERS
IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

Groceries, Flour, Provisions, Liquors and Segars
CHEAP FOR CASH.

WE HAVE REDUCED THE PRICES OF ALL KINDS OF

Groceries, Provisions and Canned Fruit.

Green Corn, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	$1.25
Peas, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.25
Pears, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.25
Strawberries, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.25
Pineapple, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.25
Blackberries, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.25

WE ARE SELLING
LIQUORS

AT PRICES WHICH FOR QUALITY DEFY COMPETITION.

BRANDIES.

Dark Sagnat.....	$1.75
Old Ge...do.....	1.75
Blackberry.....	1.75
Cherry.....	1.75

RUM.

Old Port.....	$1.75
Fine J...do.....	1.75
Sherry.....	1.75

GIN.

Holland (Imported).....	$1.75 to $2.00
Good for.....	1.75 to 2.00

WINE.

Old Port.....	$1.75 to $2.00
Fine J...do.....	1.75 to 2.00
Sherry, Old Gordon, do.....	1.75 to 2.00

Heidsieck and other Brands of Champagne.

All kinds of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco at Manufacturers Prices.

REDUCTION ON

TEAS OVER 30 PER CENT.

ALL KINDS OF REFINED SUGAR,

AT NEW YORK PRICES

FLORENCE, ORLEANS AND OTHER CHOICE BRANDS OF

Bakers' and Family

FLOUR

WILL BE SOLD AT CLEVELAND PRICES.

NEW YORK STATE BUTTER AND CHEESE.

FINE OLD AND NEW CUBA ALE.

HAIGHT, ARCHER & CO.

GROCERIES AND LIQUORS.

GRANGER & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.

Over $10,000 Worth of Choice Liquors at the following Prices

WHISKIES.

Common Whis.....	$1.50
Common Rye.....	2.00
Old Whis.....	2.50
Old Whis.....	2.50
Orchard's Old Rye.....	4.00

GINS.

Holland.....	$1.50
Holland, very choice.....	4.00

BRANDIES.

Dark Cognac.....	$1.50
Old Cognac.....	4.00
Blackberry.....	2.50
Cherry.....	2.50

RUM.

St. Ursula.....	$1.50
Jamaica.....	3.00

WINE.

Old Port.....	$1.50
Porto.....	2.50

A Large Stock of Choice Ale on Hand.

One Hundred Cases Canned Fruit at the following Prices.

Peaches, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	$1.50
Peaches, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.50
Tomatoes, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.50
Tomatoes, 2 lb. Cans, per dozen.....	1.50

GRANGER & CO.

HAVE REDUCED THEIR

PRICES OF TEAS OVER 25 PER CENT.

ALL KINDS OF REFINED

SUGARS AND SYRUPS AT NEW YORK PRICES.

FLOUR.

WE HAVE THE LARGEST FLOUR TRADE OF ANY HOUSE IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA. OUR EXPERIENCE IN MANUFACTURING FLOUR GIVES US DECIDEDLY THE ADVANTAGE OVER OUR NEIGHBORS.

DETROIT TOBACCO AT FACTORY PRICES, SAVING COST OF FREIGHT.

REFINED OIL AT REFINERS' PRICES.

Our Stock is Large and of the Choicest Kinds, and we are Bound to Sell.

TERMS CASH.

GRANGER & CO.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., March 31, 1867.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES

BY THE WESTERN UNION LINE.

VERY LATEST NEWS.

ALL OF RUSSIAN AMERICA CEDED TO THE UNITED STATES.

FORESHADOWING OF RUSSIAN POLICY ON THE EASTERN QUESTION.

PROBABLE PROTEST FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN.

JEFF. DAVIS TO BE TRIED AT THE MAY TERM OF THE SUPREME COURT.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS UNTIL JULY.

THE PRESIDENT CONVENES THE SENATE IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

THE JAPANESE COMMISSIONERS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

A DISASTROUS FIRE IN NEW YORK.

THE EVENING EXPRESS SUIT DECIDED AGAINST THE BROOKSES.

A FLOOD OF DANGEROUS COUNTERFEITS.

ARREST OF PROMINENT FINANCIERS IN NEW YORK.

A UNION OF THE FENIAN Factions DEEMED IMPOSSIBLE.

NEW YORK CITY CRIMINAL ITEMS.

BURNING OF THE LINDELL HOTEL AT ST. LOUIS.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE FROM MEXICO.

PROGRESS OF THE REVOLUTION IN SPAIN.

MYSTEROUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A PROMINENT NEW YORK PHYSICIAN.

FOREIGN NEWS BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

ADVANCE IN AMERICAN SECURITIES.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, March 30.

The President has communicated to the Senate, in Executive session, a treaty with Russia, by which that power surrenders to the United States its sovereignty over all Russian America and adjacent islands. It especially includes the strip four hundred miles long, which extends from the coast, thus nearly excluding British America from the ocean. The treaty was laid on the table and will be taken up next week.

The session excited intense interest. Influential parties regard it as significant of Russian policy in view of the pending European complications on the Eastern question. Russia cedes her American territory for the same reasons that induced Napoleon to sell Louisiana. In the event of war Russia would probably lose this territory, and by parting with it the Czar secures the friendship of our Government. The English representative is deeply chagrined, and it is said Sir Frederick Bruce will telegraph to Earl Derby for instructions to protest against its acceptance by our Government. This acquisition more than doubles the United States coast on the Pacific.

Another dispatch, dated Washington, March 30, says, "It is true as reported, that the President communicated to the Senate to-day a treaty with Russia, by which that power surrenders to the United States sovereignty over Russian America and adjacent islands. The price to be paid for this territory is about $7,000,000. The treaty was signed early this morning and sent to the Senate shortly afterward."

New York, March 31.

The Herald's Washington special says: "The Russian treaty was fully discussed in Cabinet council on Friday and that evening the Russian ambassador was received at the State Department, the negotiation being brought to a satisfactory conclusion at two o'clock Saturday morning. The treaty will have to be ratified by the Senate and both Houses of Congress must concur in making an appropriation for the payment of the purchase money before the treaty will be an accomplished fact."

A mysterious affair, involving a supposed murder and the disappearance of a prominent physician, is attracting the attention of the police. On Friday night a physician, who is attached to the Board of Health, reported at the office of the Board a woman had been found dead in a room in the city, and the police were called. It was learned that the woman, whose actions were suspicious, was at a place designated. The police visited the spot, but no corpse or man were found and the doctor himself has not been seen since.

Baltimore, March 31.

The Times' special correspondent states that parties of New Orleans rebels are importuning the President with protests against the action of General Sheridan in removing rebel officers, etc., etc.

The President has decided to adjourn.

The President will convene the Senate in Executive session to act on nominations.

Among the bills which fall for lack of approval by the President are the bill respecting arms to be furnished for the militia in Tennessee, the bill forbidding payment to foreign rebels, and the Deficiency Appropriation Bill, containing an amendment for newspapers, which Mr. Lincoln characterized to-day as to help the Treasury for political purposes and to support political newspapers.

The Tribune's special says: "It is understood that the Judiciary Committee have reported adversely on the new appointment of ex-Congressman Rutherford as Judge General in the regular army." The House, however, has not yet voted on the bill.

Judge Woodward, of Virginia, has been here for several days in conference with the Attorney General, respecting the trial of Jeff. Davis. It is the intention of the Court to have this case tried before the May term and it is understood that Chief Justice Chase will preside.

For nearly two years the Government has been carrying on the war without contracts, owing to the higher prices that railroads have generally asked since the depreciation of the currency. It has now been determined by the Post Office Department to weigh its mail over the most important routes, and to allow pay to proportionate to mail carried.

Toronto, C. W., March 29.

It is expected that the Erie Canal will be opened about the first of April.

The slide which took place some time ago at Allentown will be so repaired before the last morn as not to interfere with navigation.

Bethel, March 30.

It was the popular belief that the Bay State, that was damaged by fire yesterday.

Titusville Morning Herald.

Titusville, Monday, April 1, 1867.

New Advertisements To-Day.

Arrival and Departure of Mail—J. S. Barber, P. M.
Second-hand Wooden Furniture Wanted—A. E. Williams
American Hotel—S. M. Mills, Proprietor.
Pendleton Hotel—Williams & Stowell, Proprietors
Few Deaths—St. James' Memorial Church.

SPECIAL MATTER ON EVERY PAGE

Varieties.

Meeting Day and Fishing Day (the 1st of April) have arrived.

See notice of slip renting in St. James' Memorial Church.

The Legislature is expected to adjourn on the 11th of April.

A regular meeting of Baguwa Lodge, I. O. G. T. will be held this evening.

Keep in mind the lecture of S. M. Hewlett, at Corinthian Hall on Thursday evening.

There is to be a Masquerade Ball in Corinthian Hall to-night. Tickets $1.50. Spectators' tickets 50 cents.

Oil sold on Pioneer Run on Saturday at $2.50 at the wells. This is an advance of $1. per barrel since the 17th.

Major Mills will publish a card this morning, announcing that he will resume the management of the American Hotel on the 8th inst.

The quarterly meeting of the Literary Association will be held to-morrow evening, at which officers are to be elected for the ensuing term.

The shipments of petroleum over the Oil Creek Railroad from Titusville on Saturday reached 1,424 barrels. This is the largest number of barrels shipped in one day for some time.

The new city government will go into effect to-day. The Common Council elect, meet to take the oath of office and organize, precisely before 10 A. M. The Mayor will administer the oath.

S. M. Hewlett, Esq., the famous temperance orator, and who is said to surpass even Gough, has been engaged to lecture in Corinthian Hall on Thursday evening. The price of admission has been fixed at 25 cents, for the purpose of enabling everybody to attend.

Rev. Henry Purdon delivered a highly interesting discourse on Sabbath morning, on "The past, present and future of St. James' Memorial Church," of this city, of which, he has always been the Rector. We are compelled to report the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. B. then persuaded John to repeat the story he had told him on the church steps, and he complied, much to the delight of his auditors. Soon after this, a brilliant party was given in town and our fellow citizen secured an invitation for John, who was taken quite abashed at such social recognition. B. and his friends ecked out John's County wardrobe to make him presentable, and by a concerted arrangement with the host, Col. J.—the embryo dealer, was asked for a sofa and reclining chair, which were the life of the evening's entertainment. The Col. next day, learning the circumstances of John, gave him a substantial proof of his appreciation. The next incident re-selected John as John's first temperance lecture, which was opened by prayer by Rev. Dr. D. The same night, John got on a sofa and brought up at Agio Co. No. 6's Engine House, where he surpassed his own previous effort as well as the prayer of the reverend gentleman, who had invoked a blessing. But the ice was broken, John had discovered his "soft," it had been some time after, that he found his "unction." It was some time before he became resolutely steady, and a temperance lecturer by profession. His name is now a household word, on both sides of the Atlantic, and his triumphs as an orator have never been surpassed, in his peculiar style and line. Twelve hundred dollars in gold for a single speech! This beats the earnings of the leaders of the bar, popular preachers and the stars of the stage, and eclipses all Greek and Roman fame.

The jury then retired and brought in the following verdict:

That the said D. McCay, on the thirteenth day of March, A. D. 1867, at about one mile north of Tiroyville Station, in the county of Crawford, to-wit: on a certain railroad train running over the Oil Creek Railroad, he being then and there at or near the brake lever, and operating the brake, as said train was descending an incline, did lose its balance, and fell between two tank cars, and was struck on the head and in the parts of the body, by the train passing over him, the said J. McCay, and of the injuries thereby caused, he said D. McCay did die, and not otherwise.

Signed by the acting Coroner and Jurors.

Before the jury separated they requested their foreman to prepare a request to the several railroad companies to supply docks over the tanks on the cars, since, on an examination of a tank car, plainly proved the great danger to which the tankmen exposed in passing round the two tanks on each car, to reach the brakes, and it was evident to the jury that if such decks were universal, the tankmen could operate his brakes with less danger, and in reality help his full physical force in that position, and more quickly reach the brake over the car, than by swinging round the tanks without foothold, and with merely a greasy handhold on the chime of the tank. We think this a very proper recommendation, and hope not, car tanks with decks will be the rule of the exception.

We understand the deceased was a member of the Catholic Church, and was at the services of Friday evening; he had recently joined the church.

The present condition of the streets justifies every prediction concerning their substantial improvement. We have five spacious reservoirs, advantageously located, and supplied as they are from Church Run they are inestimable. The sewerage which has been constructed is equally valuable.

The improvements for the present year will doubtless be limited to the actual necessities of the community. The city indebtedness is large, and we are confident it will not be less increased. The Council is made up of good representative men and we predict a wise and judicious management of public affairs.

RECEIVER FOR ATLANTIC AND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY.—At a special term of the Supreme Court, held Wednesday in Buffalo, Judge Daniels presiding, an application for the appointment of a Receiver for the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company was made in behalf of Samuel Garney, John P. Keast and Charles Merley, trustees, and James E. Coleman, official liquidator of the Bank of London. Judge Ranney, of Ohio, appeared for the Railway Company, Mr. Whiting for Flagg, Judge Church for McAndrews, and Dick and Mr. Upson for himself and the Ohio trustees. C. N. Potter of New York, appeared for the motion, which was granted. Robert F. Potter, of New York, was appointed Receiver, and directed to give security in $100,000, to be approved by a Judge of the Court, and with authority to borrow money not exceeding the sum of $30,000.

CROOKS' HISTORY OF PRISON.—The price reduced—bound in cloth $1, in paper 75c. Call on B. N. Hard & Co. or Sibley & Phelps for a copy. The author, C. C. Leonard, fills orders by mail addressed to him at Pittsfield.

If you want tanks, still or boilers built cheap, call on Bryan, Dillingham & Co.

SAGUWATHA LODGE, I. O. G. T.—Regular meeting at City Hall this evening at half past seven o'clock. A punctual attendance of members is requested. Candidates for initiation will present themselves at half past eight o'clock.

W. W. BROWN, W. C. T.

E. T. HALL, W. B.

Reminiscences of Gough.

The Dubuque Times say, "while in this city, John B. Gough was offered him, from an English merchant, who offered him $500 (in gold) per night, for one year's service in London—but one lecture to be given in a week, and the series to be confined entirely to the metropolis. Besides the money offer, the correspondent tendered Mr. Gough a well-furnished house in the most respectable portion of the city, free of rent for one year. Sixty-two thousand four hundred dollars a year for one night's work in each week. Mr. Gough said he should have to consider the proposition."

The above is doubtless strictly true. Gough is beyond question the greatest natural orator of this generation. No man living but Gough could draw crowded houses, for one hundred successive nights, as he did, in the city of Boston.—His hair is now turning gray, and he has been before the English and American public for a quarter of a century, with no diminution of his inimitable power and brilliancy. Formerly Temperance was his only topic, but of late years he discourses on social follies and celebrated places, which afford scope for his inimitable powers of description, mimicry and eloquence. A gentleman of this city gives us some reminiscences of this famous man, who is well known, has seen a great deal of vicissitude, eaten the bread of poverty, and passed through all the miserable pines of a drunkard's career, until by reformation he上升到了 the highest pinnacle of contemporary fame, eclipsing the splendor of the stage and Senate by the mere creation of his genius. Our informant, now in middle life, well recalls the time when "John" was a poor and friendless book-blinder in Newburyport, Massachusetts, in the employ of Mr. Tilton, living hand to mouth, consoled with "fire-loddlers," the victim of jolly "benders" and desperate straits. He recollects one fateful night of sitting on the steps of St. Paul's Church, when "John" came sauntering along with a doleful face, as if he had lost the last friend he had in the world. They fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with him, and gave him a hearty hand-clap. They then fell into conversation, and John told his pathetic story of the bad luck which had dogged his heels from childhood. Mr. B., as we will call our informant, was moved by the pitiful tale, and hastened himself to make friends and business for John, taking him magazine to bind, &c. There was a debating club in the town called the "Cleer," of which B. was a member, with other elbow-splinters, some of whom have since become distinguished in different walks of life. B. invited John one night to drop in; he thought at first he was not good enough for such associations, but was finally prevailed upon to do so. After the several members had spoken their pieces, B. called on John and with much reluctance he recited the "Sailor Boy's Dream," and with such dramatic effect as over-powered all competition, and electrified the house. The members of the club were greatly pleased with

